WOMEN LEAD RIOTERS IN INDIAN CITY

Strongest Picketing Effort of Recent Date is Made in Bombay

HUNDREDS INJURED IN FRONT OF POLL

Gandhists Employ Feminine Force of 600 to Keep Voters Away

BOMBAY, India, Sept. 18.—The strongest Nationalist picketing effort of recent date caused injury today to 250 persons, many of them beaten with police sticks in front of the Bombay town hall, in which legislative elections were being held. Women led the movement. There were 382 women arrested as they were marching to the town hall. Tonight the women were released, but the men were not.

REPEATED CHARGES
The constabulary made repeated charges to clear away the obstructionists who sought to prevent voters from reaching the polling places. From 8 a.m. until 6 p.m. the disorders occurred at intervals. Each time the police cleared the streets new picketers appeared. The voting district has 60,000 registered voters but only 1,473 cast ballots.

600 WOMEN ENLISTED
The Congress committee had more than 600 women on hand for duty. They were mobilized in the morning just around the corner from the town hall and from there they drew reserves to fill the depleted ranks.

The reason for today's disturbance was that the Congress contended the Indian National Congress real parliamentary institutions, and that, therefore, the Congress should boycott all legislative elections.

TREATY WITH NEW ZEALAND IS PREDICTED

Premier Forbes Is Confident That Trade Agreement Will Be Reached

GOOD WILL SHOWN IN CONFERENCES HELD

OTTAWA, Sept. 18.—Accompanied by an intimation that a one-sided trade agreement with Canada would not be acceptable in his country, Premier G. W. Forbes, of New Zealand, today expressed confidence that an arrangement satisfactory to both dominions would be effected.

After addressing a meeting of the Canadian Club, which was attended by Premier R. B. Bennett and Hon. W. L. Mackenzie King, leader of the Opposition, Premier Forbes left tonight for Montreal, whence he will proceed to New York. He sails from New York tomorrow night on the Majestic to attend the Imperial Conference.

NEW AGREEMENT EXPECTED
Premier Forbes' address was devoted largely to the problem which has arisen in Canada through heavy imports of New Zealand butter and the hope for a new trade agreement to supplement the present arrangement terminating in October.

"I feel confident from the little conversations I have had here in Ottawa that we will be able to get together in matters of trade to the mutual advantage of both New Zealand and Canada," he said. "There can be no one-sided agreement, however. But with the good will that has been extended me in my conferences, I feel that we will be able to effect something of a satisfactory nature to both countries."

EMPIRE CO-OPERATION
Premier Forbes said he recognized that the claims of one's own people must come first, but after that came the broad question of co-operation throughout the Empire.

PREMIERS TO RECEIVE FREEDOM OF LONDON
LONDON, Sept. 17.—The Prime Ministers of Canada, Australia and New Zealand, will be presented with the honorary freedom of the City of London, on the occasion of their attendance at the Imperial Conference.

Urges Protection Of Canada's Rights On Columbia River

Native Sons of British Columbia Will Request Dominion Government to Ask United States for Plans of Development in Lower Waterway Under Long-Standing Treaty Privilege

Move Made to Safeguard Interests

VANCOUVER, Sept. 18.—Announcement from Washington, D.C., that plans are being prepared for the development of the Columbia River Basin in the States of Oregon and Washington is of extreme interest to Canada, and will be the subject of a request to the Dominion Government by the Native Sons of British Columbia to ask United States Government to submit any plans affecting the river basin to Ottawa for consideration.

Sensational Gold Strike Reported In Nevada Field
RENO, Nevada, Sept. 18.—Reports of a sensational gold strike at Manhattan, Nevada, seventy-five miles north of Tonopah, were confirmed here tonight in a message to The Nevada State Journal. H. G. Clinton, widely known geologist, who has been studying the geology of that vicinity for the past fifteen years, is quoted as saying the discovery is "equal to the Comstock," where millions were unearthed in the early days of Virginia City. More than one hundred feet of ore, assaying as high as from $50 to $1,000 per ton, has been exposed, while at the bottom face of the drift the ore assays $2,000 per ton.

RIGHT TO BE CONSULTED
"We do not suppose that the United States is going to undertake anything that will prove a detriment to the Columbia Basin," Mr. Bole stated, "but the fact remains that when the boundary line was established at the forty-ninth parallel Great Britain and British subjects were given rights on the Columbia and Native Sons of British Columbia have long insisted that those rights should not be permitted to lapse."

"When any matter that may affect the rights which we hold is suggested, then, we maintain it is Canada's right to be consulted."

"For some time an agitation has been under way in Washington for the development of the Columbia, and suggestions have been made that the upper reaches of the river in Washington State be dammed for power purposes. Such construction might infringe upon the rights of British Columbians and Canadians generally, that, while perhaps not of moment today, may be of incalculable value in the future."

STRESSED TREATY RIGHTS
"Several times in the past," declared Mr. Bole, "Native Sons of British Columbia have had occasion to call attention to the fact of the existence of such a treaty provision. Once the rights of Britishers to travel up and down the Columbia unobstructed resulted in the freeing of a ship that was unlawfully detained on the river. On the second occasion our efforts were not so fruitful. It was when Captain Robert Pamphile was arrested as a result of bringing his runner into the mouth of the Columbia to rescue the crew of an American vessel in distress."

"We are still of the firm opinion that the treaty was violated upon that occasion, and we are, therefore, determined that as far as we possibly can, we will not permit the United States to forget that the status of the Columbia River where it flows south of the international border is a waterway which British citizens are specifically privileged to use."

"The treaty in question sets out in Article I that the Straits of Juan de Fuca are to be considered as an international waterway, and the succeeding article deals somewhat similarly with the Columbia River."

CUBA BLOCKS REVISION OF WORLD COURT

Action Might Halt United States Move to Ratify Famous Protocol

CHINESE DELEGATE IS PEACEMAKER IN ROW

GENEVA, Sept. 18.—The Republic of Cuba today blocked a move in a League of Nations Assembly Committee to put into effect the protocol for revision of the World Court Statute. The action caused anxiety among many members of the League.

Informed persons felt the failure of this project might embarrass the United States administration in its efforts to obtain Senate ratification of that other, more famous protocol, which provides for American entry to the World Court.

WON VERBAL COMBAT
Cuba won her point today after a verbal combat between Orestes Ferrera and the Greek delegate, Nicholas Politis.

Mr. Politis, understood to be voicing the sentiments of a number of states which have agreed to the revision protocol, called the Assembly's attention to the fact Cuba was the only opponent of immediate effectiveness for the protocol.

He said the island republic's attitude was regrettable, and he charged the Cuban Government with failure to join in an effort of good will.

REPLIED WITH VIGOR
Senor Ferrera responded with vigor, asserting Cuba's sovereign right was being challenged.

C. C. Wu, Chinese delegate, and Vittorio Scialoja, chairman of the committee intervened to calm the controversy. Shortly after Senor Ferrera announced in smoother tones it was possible the Cuban Government, "after general ratification of the protocol" by other states, might change its mind and add its approval.

Has Two More Records to Her Credit

ARRIVING at Yokohama Thursday, the Canadian Pacific liner Empress of Japan set two more records, one for the run from Honolulu to that port and the other for the passage from Vancouver to Yokohama, via Honolulu. The first clipped twenty-four hours for the previous record, her time for the run being six days nineteen hours and forty-three minutes.

Shamrock V Fails To Lift America's Cup From U.S. Yacht

Enterprise Wins Fourth Consecutive Victory Over British Challenger and Establishes New Record for the Course in the Last Race of Series

NEWPORT, R.I., Sept. 18.—In a race that smashed all records for America's Cup competition, Enterprise today completed the rout of the last of Sir Thomas Lipton's Shamrocks on the high seas and the classic emblem of world yachting supremacy remains in the United States for the eightieth year since it was captured in British waters.

The slim, white and bronze-bodied cup defender, ran away from Shamrock V in the first ten miles of the thirty-mile triangular course.

Thus settling matters before the contest was a third over, the United States sloop had little trouble holding enough margin to capture the fourth and deciding race of the series, concluded in choppy seas and a breeze that blew up to eighteen knots, tilting the racers at a rakish angle.

Enterprise was the victor by exactly five minutes and seventeen seconds, covering the course in the record time of 3:10:13.

This was the fastest thirty miles ever sailed in the sixty years since British first challenged for the cup in United States waters in 1870.

MADE RECORD RUN
Enterprise's elapsed time surpassed by three minutes and five seconds the former cup record of 3:13:12.

The winner's margin today of nine minutes on the first leg, beat to windward, in which she left Shamrock a mile and a half astern, was more than sufficient to offset the substantial gains of the challenger in the two subsequent legs.

U.S. COMMENT ON TARIFF IS SIGNIFICANT
Canadian Duty Increases Arouses Extraordinary Interest in New York

NEWSPAPERS DEVOTE COLUMNS TO REPORTS

NEW YORK, Sept. 18.—Canadian tariff action, as announced at Ottawa Monday, aroused extraordinary interest here. The newspapers devoted columns to detailed reports of changes in customs duties.

At Washington first reports indicated that the action of the Canadian Government was viewed in the light of retaliation against increased duties on Canadian exports to the United States, imposed at the last session of Congress.

Concern was expressed in New York at increased rates on textile and farm implements. One manufacturer of textiles, who did not wish to be quoted, said that, on the reports available, the new rates would be a severe blow to his firm. A farm implement official said if the new rates proved prohibitive it might be necessary to establish a branch factory in Canada.

COMPARISON MADE
The World, under the heading, "Canada's Answer to Our Tariff," comments editorially in part: "The Canadian Government, for obvious reasons, does not admit that its emergency tariff schedules are intended as an answer to our new Hawley-Smoot duties. Officially, Canada's action is designed to stimulate home industry and absorb."

Woman Pilot Is Killed in Plane Crash

SAN DIEGO, Sept. 18.—Ruth Alexander, noted aviatrix, died today in the crash of her low wing light monoplane only a few minutes after her take-off from Lindbergh Field for Wichita, Kas., and New York in search for a new speed record for her sex.

Miss Alexander, who was twenty-four years old and who recently flew from Vancouver, B.C., to Agua Caliente, Lower California, in sixteen hours, a record for women, left today and landed at Lindbergh Field here for checking, and took off for Wichita at 3:28 a.m.

Her broken body was found in the shattered fuselage.

Crashes to Sudden Death

RUTH Alexander, holder of the altitude record for women and the first aviatrix to make a nonstop flight between Vancouver and Mexico, was instantly killed Thursday when her plane crashed into a hill shortly after taking off from San Diego for New York.

TARIFF BILL GIVES OPPOSITION CAUSE FOR LONG DEBATE

E. J. Garland, United Farmer, Moves Sub-Amendment—Charging Government With Failure to Assist Western Agriculturists—Has Labor Support

Conservative Members Take No Part in Day's Discussions

OTTAWA, Sept. 18.—The second day of debate on the Government's tariff proposals brought from the ranks of the United Farmer and Labor members in the House of Commons, an amendment to the Liberal amendment moved by Rt. Hon. Mackenzie King, Opposition leader, yesterday.

"If there is one striking fact with regard to the budget which is now proposed, it is that in it there is no provision whatever that offers, in any way, assistance to agriculture in Western Canada," asserted E. J. Garland, United Farmer member for Bow River, who moved the subamendment.

His motion expressed doubt that the Government possessed any adequate means for ensuring that prices to the Canadian consumer would not be increased as result of the new tariff. It voiced regret that no provision had been made for safeguarding the standards of labor. It declared that the Government proposals, "do not constitute a permanent or general cure of unemployment," and "will not enable us to secure markets for our agricultural products." Finally, it set forth the view that the solution of the problem lay in the adoption of co-operative principles in production and distribution and by the public control of credit.

SEEKS STUDY OF COSTS
J. S. Woodworth, Labor member for Winnipeg North Centre, was the sponsor of the subamendment.

"The tariff proposals of the Government, provided for the regulation of the interest of big business," Mr. Woodworth said. He asserted that the farmer received only two cents out of the twelve paid for loss of interest in the adoption of an investigation he made into food costs in Canada.

"Debate will continue tomorrow with the probability of a vote on one or more of the proposals before the House during the course of the afternoon or evening sittings. One of the largest crowds which has gathered this session looked down on members tonight as they discussed the tariff resolution and amendments."

FIELD DAY FOR OPPOSITION
Discussion today was confined to members sitting to the left of the Speaker. No Government supporters took part in the debate.

More Money Is Needed for Relief Fund

Seven of seventeen miners in a shaft of a Nova Scotia coal mine were killed on Wednesday when an explosion, wrecked the tunnel in which they were working 1,200 feet below the earth's surface. They were victims of a disaster very similar to that at the Blakely Mine, near Cosmo, some weeks ago.

In the Blakely Mine there were forty-six men at work when an explosion of fire damp occurred. Only one man escaped, the rest being victims of the poisonous gases that soon filled the tunnel when the ventilating system was wrecked. Most of those who lost their lives left dependents, many of whom are in dire circumstances through loss of their breadwinners.

SEEKS PUBLIC DISCUSSION OF CHURCH CASE

RAISES OBJECTION TO SECRET COMMITTEE OF UNITED CHURCH COUNCIL

FORMER MODERATOR HONORED AT MEETING

LONDON, Ont., Sept. 18.—A slight disagreement marked the General Council of the United Church of Canada meeting here today when Rev. Robert Murray, of Hillsboro, N.B., moved that a memorial from the Inverness-Guysboro Presbytery be considered immediately. The memorial concerns financial grants to ministers, he disclosed, but is being held secret until passed on to a committee, after which it may be debated on the floor of the council.

Rev. Mr. Murray's motion was defeated without a suppliant. There are some things at church headquarters which won't bear daylight," declared the Maritime Commissioner, "and the feeling of the people in my presbytery is that there should be an investigation. The idea that certain aspects of the administration cannot be made public is injuring the givings to the missionary and maintenance funds."

Sessions during the second day's meeting of the General Council were presided over by Principal Edmund W. Oliver, of Saskatoon, elected Moderator of the United Church of Canada last night.

During the afternoon deliberations a vigorous attack against the liquor traffic was launched by Rev. Dr. S. D. Chown, formerly general superintendent of the Methodist Church in Canada.

An illuminated address was presented to Rev. Dr. James Endicott, Aikens, formerly general superintendent of the Methodist Church in Canada, by the president of the British Columbia Conference, Dr. O. Sanford, of Victoria, B.C.

NANKING GOVT LEADER ORDERS FINAL ASSAULT

Heavy Fighting Reported as Desperate Drive is Made to End War

ANOTHER HUGE LOAN TO BE FLOATED FOR ARMIES

By ROINALD SWEETLAND (Copyright, 1930, by The Chinese Daily News Foreign Service)

SHANGHAI, Sept. 18.—Calling on all his divisional commanders to exert their fullest efforts to win the war, General Chiang Kai-shek, president of the Nanking Government, has announced that the final drive is now in progress. Reports reaching here indicate heavy fighting along the Peiping-Hankow and the Lungshai railroads, with considerable gains against General Feng Yu-hsiang's retreating troops.

The Nanking Government also has announced the receipt of encouraging news from its delegates at Mukden to the effect that the young marshal, General Chang Hsueh-liang, is prepared to lend a helping hand. This report is largely discredited here as being an attempt to bolster the optimism of Nanking adherents while the final push is under way.

Sapping their optimism is a report in the Chinese press that Nanking intends to float another $50,000,000 loan for the purpose of financing Manchuria's war. The loans will be known as "1930 Customs Treasury Notes." Local property-owners, by paying two months advance rent, are expected to raise Shanghai's quota, namely, $1,000,000.

CANNERY TENDER IS DESTROYED BY FIRE; CREW OF TWO ESCAPE

Breaking into flames in some unaccountable manner yesterday morning from the west coast of Vancouver Island to Vancouver, the fifty-foot cannery tender Alaska, Captain Russell, was run ashore at Beechy Bay after ineffectual efforts of the captain and Engineer Forsyth had been made to get the fire under control.

The boat was destroyed and all the personal belongings of the two men, including their cash, were lost. The Alaska was owned by H. C. Macaulay, of Vancouver.

ENDS 32,000-MILE JOURNEY AROUND GLOBE

Young Siberian Officer Completes Long Trip on Arrival at Victoria

TRAVERSED EIGHTEEN DIFFERENT NATIONS

To have traveled over thirty-two thousand miles visiting many foreign countries and be received by kings, presidents, governors and dictators does not fall to the lot of many young men of today, but that has been the experience of Lieutenant I. S. Kralchenko-Soboleff, twenty-nine-year-old globe trotter, soldier of fortune, gentleman and author.

In spite of his long travels the lieutenant retains an almost boyish appearance and was not for his regulation khaki uniform, adorned with medals and decorations given to him by the heads of various Reall stores, where you will always find courteous treatment, well kept and complete stocks, and the lowest possible prices consistent with quality.

STARTED AT SHANGHAI

"I started my long journey from Shanghai, Britain's eastern seaport, where I and 19,000 of my fellow refugees live in security under the shadow of the protecting symbol of the British flag. I have traveled extensively under the same flag, via Malay States, Singapore, Burma, India, passing through Persia, Palestine, France, Italy, Yugoslavia, Hungary, Germany and terminate my travels in Canada," he told The Colonist yesterday.

"I have traveled extensively in India, crossing the Great Northern desert, the first time ever crossed by cycle, I am told, and everywhere I met with the warmest hospitality and was protected with a new motorcycle by the Commissioner of the Punjab. What I am going to say must not be taken as politics. I am asked frequently if India will leave the British Empire. This always makes me smile and I say, perhaps when 300 or more Gaudis have followed one and other and each have spent three years in jail. But I think the Hindus will get tired before then," he remarked.

POLICE NOT WEARY

The lieutenant has a humorous side and smiled as he said, "I did not observe that the British police officers and soldiers were weary. It is all in a day's work for them and, if some get killed, well, that is also part of the game and there are plenty more to take their places. He is like a giant with mosquitoes buzzing around. I think the Hindus want a little excitement after the century of peace, so Britain gives them a big skipping rope and soon they will get tired. Will India leave the Empire? Not a chance."

GOVERNOR'S WELCOME

In Victoria the lieutenant called on the Lieutenant-Governor and spoke enthusiastically of the welcome that was given him at Government House by His Honor and Miss Margaret McKenna.

"I have enjoyed my stay in Canada. I am sorry I must leave, but Saturday I must go to Vancouver. I will be back in Shanghai and the end of the journey that has taken me since November, 1928, to complete. Au revoir."

Lieutenant Kralchenko-Soboleff wears a medal for bravery while serving in the Chinese Army (foreign group). The medal was presented by Chao Bo Lin, he said, has emblems presented to him in Germany, Italy, Hungary, Czechoslovakia and Jerusalem.

The lieutenant was born in Omsk, Siberia, and made the long journey under the auspices of the Young Men's Association of Shanghai. On his return to China he will write a volume in Russian and English of his travels.

U.S. COMMENT ON TARIFF IS SIGNIFICANT

the unemployed. Nevertheless, many of the new rates are identical with those which were recently embodied in the American Tariff Act.

"The spectacle of two neighboring nations, each the other's best customer, engaging in a tariff war is not at all unusual, and the end apparently has not yet been reached; for the new Canadian tariff is only an interim arrangement."

PRaises BENNETT

"A curtailment of the trade between the two countries can only lead to more idle farms and mines and factories and—what is still worse—more idle men. But at least this much may be said in behalf of the Canadian tariff. It has taken steps to prevent the new duties from causing an advance in domestic prices. Such consideration for the consumer did not actuate those who framed the Hawley-Smoot tariff."

MORE MONEY NEEDED FOR RELIEF FUND

Donations totaling $2,590.95 have been received by The Colonist for their relief fund, but as time passes since the tragic disaster the gifts have been fewer. The fund will be closing at an early date, and all interested in aiding those left dependent by the mine explosion are urged to send their donations in as soon as possible.

DAMAGE BY POWDER BLAST AT EVERETT PLACED AT $265,000

EVERETT, Sept. 18.—Devastation and destruction wrought by the explosion late yesterday of 5,000 pounds of dynamite, which wrecked the Puget Sound and Alaska Powder plant at Mukilteo, four miles south of here, was placed at $265,000 late today.

Mrs. Harold Boushey, twenty-three, and Miss Bernice Laabs, also in a serious condition today from cuts received by flying glass. A score more persons were cut by flying glass and badly bruised by being knocked down by the explosion.

Earl Greenwood, the only employee injured, received cuts and had his clothing blown off.

Every building in the plant was destroyed and the fire which followed burned the wreckage.

CHILD KILLED BY AUTO

BURNABY, Sept. 18.—Billy Reasonoff, three, Barnett, was struck by an automobile today and died in Vancouver General Hospital several hours later. George S. Menzies, Port Haney, driver of the automobile, was charged with manslaughter. Bail was set at $5,000.

COURT AWARDS MINING CLAIMS TO LUCKY JIM

Chief Justice Hands Down Decision in Case of Disputed Ownership of Properties

The stakes of the Lucky Jim group of claims at Stewart were yesterday declared by Chief Justice Morrison, in the Supreme Court here, to be the lawful owners of the mining properties involved in the action brought by the owners of the American group of claims to set aside the rights in a dispute over the staking of the properties. The effect of the finding of the court is that the staking, which it was claimed was made on the property in dispute in the month of February, 1928, was a bona fide staking, and that the American Creek syndicate did not stake until July, and that therefore, the defendants were entitled to all the ground which might be in dispute between them.

TARIFF BILL GIVES OPPOSITION CAUSE FOR LONG DEBATE

Approval of many of the statements contained in the subamendment was voiced by Rt. Hon. Macdonald King, Opposition leader. He could not, however, support the last clause, which declared that "a solution of our problem can be found only by the adoption of co-operation principles in production and distribution, and by the public control of credit." This declaration he found too sweeping. He objected to the use of the word "only," asserting that the problems to be met were much too complicated to dismiss in such a summary manner.

FLIGHT OF FARMERS

In a vigorous onslaught on the proposal, E. J. Gagnier (U.F.A. Bow River) called attention to the plight of the Western farmers. They were in a worse condition than the unemployed with debt and had less than nothing. He clashed several times with Armand Lavigne (Cons. Montmagny).

While he deplored the Government's policy, he nevertheless gave the Prime Minister credit for his sincerity. The Government was implementing its pledges to the detriment of attempting the impossible by the application of impracticable remedies.

Mr. Gagnier did not see how high protection could be advantageous in relieving the unemployment situation.

FARMERS AT SEA

William Irvine (U.F.A., Wetaskiwin) said the tariff proposals represented the Government's idea of curing unemployment, and for these proposals the country had given Mr. Bennett a mandate. He did not agree with the country's decision. He was bound to respect the will of the people. His own task, said Mr. Irvine, was to secure a readjustment of the affairs of the country had a Government which had made election promises and did not keep them; but now the country had a Government which had made promises and threatened to fulfill them. He did not know which situation was the worse.

OPPOSES TARIFF PLANS

Henri Bourassa (Independent, Labelle), announced he would vote for the tariff proposals. The result of the tariff proposals, he said, was that if it did not raise prices it would keep them at present abnormal prices to the consumer.

If it came to sending the products of Canada to markets abroad, he would prefer to send them to Great Britain, not as a matter of sentiment but as a matter of common sense.

Just as he was against lowering the duties on British goods by the previous administration, so did he think it wrong on the part of the present Government to give the economic conference, to show their game all at once. It was a mistake on the part of Mr. Bennett to ask the House to pass this tariff

CLUBMEN HEAR OF CONVENTION

Alfred Brewer Describes Big Gathering in Chicago to Local Rotarians

HONOR ROTARY FOUNDER

Impressions of the silver anniversary of Rotary, whose twenty-fifth birthday was celebrated by a massed convention at Chicago recently, were given at yesterday's luncheon of the Victoria club by Alfred Brewer.

Mr. Brewer left Victoria on May 26 to attend the convention, and motored through the United States to Chicago.

"Anyone who made the trip, as I did, during the height of the busy tourist season," said Mr. Brewer, "would immediately appreciate the advantages of a transcanada highway. Tourists leave thousands of dollars behind them as they travel. I am convinced that a highway across Canada would pay for itself in a very few years."

HOUSE OF FRIENDSHIP

The convention, continued the speaker, was conducted on a splendid scale. Mr. Brewer arrived in Chicago June 2, and proceeded to the Stevens Hotel, where the convention was held. This hotel, he said, was the largest in the world, having 3,000 rooms.

In the basement of the building was the "House of Friendship," the headquarters of the convention. This was artistically arranged to present a forest, and had pools filled with goldfish, while dozens of canaries were flitting among the pine boughs which arched overhead.

1,000 REGISTRATIONS

There were 17,000 Rotarians registered at the convention, said Mr. Brewer, and these represented sixty-three different countries. Mr. Brewer met Mr. and Mrs. Johnson, the parents of Amy Johnson, noted British aviator, who were delegates from England to the convention.

The speaker briefly described the magnificent pageant, which was the principal feature of the gathering. The stage of the large stadium was built in the form of a huge birthday cake, with twenty-five candles.

During the convention, Paul Harris, founder of the Rotary movement, briefly addressed the delegates. He was wasted with sickness and had to be supported on to the stage by his wife and doctor. It was an impressive sight, said Mr. Brewer, when the audience of 15,000 rose to pay silent homage to the grand old man who was responsible for the birth of the great organization.

CANADIAN NATIONAL RAILWAY PIER WILL BE BUILT ON PILES

VANCOUVER, Sept. 18.—Contract for construction of the Canadian National Railway pier at the foot of Main Street, which was recently destroyed by fire, has been let to the Northern Construction Co. and J. W. Stewart, Ltd. It is reported. The pier will be built on piles as before.

B. C. Keeley, British Columbia manager for the C.N.R.S. Ltd., will leave for the East today in connection with the project. Although he will make no statement regarding the matter, it is understood that work will start shortly.

Oh, come where the rolicking wind is a-blowing
The clouds in a tangle across the blue sky!
And see how the sun in its glory is glowing
On popples that grow 'mid the wheat and the rye.

It seems that the world is today filled with splendor,
Its beauties intensified, flowers more fair,
For you are beside me, so gracious and slender,
The sunshine reflecting the gold of your hair.

Workmen's Compensation Measure Spreads Benefits Over Wide Range in 1929

Claims numbering 35,750 were reported to the Workmen's Compensation Board during last year, it is shown in the annual report of the board ending December 31, 1929 now printed.

Of interest in the report, the substance of which was given to the last session of the Legislature, are the following items: Total of 1,504 workers in receipt of disability pensions at the close of 1929, not including pensions paid to 688 widows, 993 children, 121 dependent mothers, forty dependent fathers, and forty other dependents, or a total of 3,386 persons receiving relief under the act.

COST IS REDUCED
A total of $1,855,902 was paid to workmen during the year, and $752,623 for medical and hospital services, including medical. The cost of administration was decreased from 2.34 per cent in 1928 to 2.24 per cent in 1929, despite an increase in both the number of workers and in the claims attended to.

Sidelights on the development of the province are to be found in the reported increase of 1,401 new employers during the year, and the resumption of business by 206 other employers, which, with existing firms at the beginning of the year, made up a total of 8,488 employers reporting to the board.

Payrolls, similarly, had grown from $129,518,775 in 1921 to $185,000,000 in 1929. At the end of the year 175,000 workmen in British Columbia were protected by the operation of the act.

Since its inception thirteen years ago the board has received reports of 319,000 accidents, in 2,923 cases leading to death, in 7,294 other instances to total or serious disabilities.

HEAVIEST CONTRIBUTORS
Sums paid by employers in 1929 show the lumbering and logging industries as the heaviest private contributors to the scheme, based on the numbers of workers employed. Their contribution was in excess of $1,250,000. Building and construction generally paid approximately $350,000, coal and mining between $200,000 and $300,000, while government, municipal, transportation and light manufacturing sources contributed sums in the neighborhood of $100,000 or over. Nineteen classes contributing to the funds under the heading of employers paid in, $3,360,130.

The administration of the act was carried out by the board, consisting during 1929 of E. S. H. Winn, chairman, Parker Williams and Hugh B. Gilmore.

Sought Early Explorer

ABOVE is Admiral Sir Francis Leopold McClintock, K.C.B., D.C.L., L.L.D., F.R.S., who, in 1848, joined the Arctic expedition under Sir James Ross in search of Sir John Franklin's ships as second lieutenant of the Enterprise. In the second search expedition (1850), he was first lieutenant of the Assistance, and in the third (1854) he commanded the Intrepid.

He accepted the command of the expedition on board the Fox, fitted out by Lady Franklin in 1857, which succeeded in its object, finding relics and a brief record of the disastrous finish of Sir John Franklin's party, also a boat on the shore of King William's Land containing two skeletons.

In 1879, Sir Leopold was appointed commander in chief of the North American and West Indian station and stationed at Admiralty House, Clarence Hill, 175,000 workmen in British Columbia were protected by the operation of the act.

Nephews and niece of Sir Leopold residing in Victoria are E. S. V. McClintock, of Craigville; Leopold D. McClintock, of the Bank of Montreal; and Mrs. Gordon A. Cameron, of St. David Street, Oak Bay.

NEW VACUUM TUBE OF GREAT SENSITIVITY IS ANNOUNCED IN EAST

SCHENECTADY, N.Y., Sept. 18.—Development of a new vacuum tube so sensitive that it may be used in the measurement of heat radiated from stars countless miles away was announced last night in a talk over WOY.

This new four-element device will record the tiniest fraction of an electrical impulse, or in the words of the engineer, it will measure a hundredth of a millionth of a billionth of an ampere.

It was described by Ellis L. Manning, of the General Electric Research Laboratories. Its electron flow, he said, could be likened to two drops of water compared with the enormous volume spilled over Niagara Falls in a year.

It will find an important use, he believed, by astronomers, who could employ it in conjunction with photo-electric cells to determine the amount of light radiated by stars.

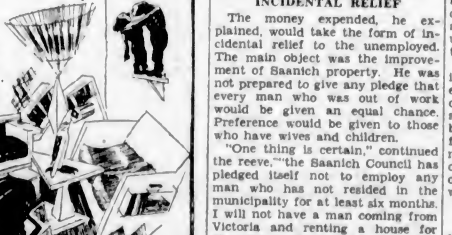

It would also be applied to the laboratory for measuring small currents, replacing less sensitive instruments.

SAN FRANCISCO MAN IS CHARGED WITH FRAUD; POSED AS BRIDE-TO-BE

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 18.—Joe Sawyer, sixty, was arrested on charges of conspiracy to use the mails to defraud by answering matrimonial paper advertisements, and posing as a beautiful woman who wished to be married.

The pictures he sent with love letters to various lonely farmers were all that were to be desired, but when the swains sent money to pay the bride's fair to the wedding, he spent it on groceries and postage stamps to trap the other wife-seekers.

Sawyer was arrested in company with Mrs. Pearl Pratus, who it was charged, assisted him in demonstrating the cupid's cupid.

Visitor.—Why, John, you've certainly got the modern taste. How do you like this stuff?

CANCER IS CURABLE IF TAKEN IN TIME, SAYS NOTED MEDIC

TORONTO, Sept. 18.—Cancer, if caught in its early stages, can be cured by surgery, Lord Moynihan, president of the Royal College of Surgery, told a large gathering of medical and business men at a luncheon at the Canadian Club yesterday.

Surgery has gone its limit and can do nothing further in perfecting a cure for cancer, he said, and it is too early to predict the benefit of radium. The only remedy to prevent the ever-increasing mortality is to start a public campaign. Rid people of their ignorance concerning these things and enlighten them as to causes and symptoms, and the "king of scourges" will be offset in his march of death, he said.

Visitor (at quiet resort).—What do you do here when it rains?
Native.—Oh, we just let it rain!

Piles Go Quick

Piles are caused by bad circulation of the blood in the lower bowel and a weakening of the parts. Only an internal medicine can remove the cause. That's why external remedies and ointments fail. Dr. Leonard's HEM-ROID, succeeds, because it relieves this congestion and strengthens the affected parts. Dr. Leonard's prescription has such a wonderful record for quick, safe and lasting relief even in chronic and stubborn cases, that MacFarlane and Vancouver Drug Stores say try HEM-ROID at my expense. Your Pile suffering must end or money back.

COATS
Flat and long-haired furs add richness to the new Fall and Winter wraps, so you may consult your own tastes. In the matter of color, too, you are unrestricted, for many colors are as fashion-right as black. There are Coats for travel with a general-occasion adaptability. And Coats just for dress.

DRESSES
Frocks of Canton crepe and that old favorite, crepe de Chine, show new sleeve treatments and so many other new details for the new season. These are for general daytime occasions and for the more formal Fall afternoons. For business and sports there are tweeds and jersey's thrillingly new.

EVENING
It may be that your wardrobe for evening needs replenishing first of all. Then just smart invitations with a Frock or two selected from the Paris imports. Dark colors with a silvery cast are choice. Brown in sheer material is good. And there are velvets and metal cloths fit for the season.

ACCESSORIES
For handbags that are bigger and more carefully detailed, jewelry that neatly considers the costume and lingerie touches that define the soft chic of a new frock—"do" the accessory sections during Exposition Week. A feeling of Fall is very much present at the glove counters; where handkerchiefs are sold—throughout the store, in fact.

BUY HOME PRODUCTS NATIVE SONS URGE

Pass Resolution Requesting Support for Local Merchants and Manufacturers in Domestic Purchases

Supporting British Empire products in the main and sponsoring the buy at home principle of merchandising to increase the prosperity of local merchants and the growth of the city in general, the Victoria Assembly No. 1, Native Sons of Canada, passed a resolution at its meeting last night, in which it asks Victoria to purchase domestic products from business houses owned by citizens of their own city wherever possible.

THE RESOLUTION

The following is the text of the resolution:
Be it resolved that the members of this Assembly, Victoria No. 1, Native Sons of Canada, are of the opinion that the buying of British Empire products is desirable at all times, and

That it is in conformity with this opinion to stress, more particularly at the present time, the desirability of cultivating interprovincial trade and of buying Canadian-made products in an effort to increase national prosperity; and

As the prosperity of the locality in which they dwell is of the greatest importance to the people of any community, the citizens of Victoria should be reminded that they can better serve their own city and fellow citizens by purchasing domestic products, in preference to all others, and from business houses owned by citizens of their own city wherever possible.

PRaises for Bromley

The members of the assembly evidenced considerable interest in the recent endeavor of Lieut. Harold Bromley to fly from the Japanese coast to Tacoma, and as Mr. Bromley is a native of this city, a resolution congratulating him on his perseverance and extending best wishes for his ultimate success, and congratulating his parents, Mr. and Mrs. George Bromley, of this city, was passed unanimously.

A resolution complimenting Reginald Hayward, M.P.P., on his proposed motion for consideration by the Victoria Chamber of Commerce in respect of married women continuing in positions during the present financial distress, was passed. Mr. Hayward's proposed motion is similar to resolutions introduced by A. C. Pike, of this city, and passed by the National Council of the Native Sons of Canada in recent convention at Montreal.

The meeting was informed that the president of the Canadian Manufacturers' Association had communicated with the national president of the Native Sons of Canada, congratulating him upon the various resolutions passed at the recent convention in respect of buying "Made in Canada" goods whenever possible.

Teacher.—Remember, my boy, what you have learned no one can ever take from you.
Small Boy.—Well, they can't ever take from me what I haven't learned, either, can they?

LONDON, Sept. 18.—Lord Beaverbrook is ill with para-typhoid. His case, however, is not believed to be serious.
"His friends," said a person close to the newspaper peer today, "are encouraged to believe he will have a speedy recovery."
Lord Beaverbrook took ill three weeks ago while on a yachting holiday and was brought into the port of Dover for consultation with physicians there. It was announced he had food poisoning. Later his home in London gave out the news of his partial recovery, but said he would not be able to keep public engagements for some time.

THE AMERICA'S CUP

The America's Cup has been retained by the United States as a result of the victories of the Enterprise in the four races sailed. It has taken a long time to prove that a challenger which prior to engaging in the cup races, has to be sailed across the Atlantic has a poor chance in competition with a yacht that can be constructed within the defending area. The lesson has been rubbed home very emphatically in the recent races. That great sportsman, Sir Thomas Lipton, optimist as he has proved himself, now admits that the task is well nigh a hopeless one. It is certainly not one for individual effort. Even the Americans, with so many advantages in their favor, on the occasion of preparation for the latest contests built four vessels and sent them sailing in competition before choosing the boat which performed the best.

Any British challenger for the America's Cup must be built in Great Britain and sailed across the Atlantic. Necessarily a yacht of this type must be staunch, stoutly constructed and seaworthy in all kinds of weather. The challenger, under these conditions, is always a heavier boat than the defender. It is noted, for instance, that Shamrock V has a mast some 1,200 pounds heavier than the hollow metal mast of the Enterprise. This constitutes a handicap that must have proved an element in the defeat of the latest challenger. The odds are so great that seamanship is not the factor in the races that it is held to be. The challenger, from the beginning, is engaged on an almost forlorn hope. The outstanding feature of the America's Cup contests has been the sportsmanship which has led the British again and again to attempt a task that has proved impossible.

No fewer than fourteen attempts have been made to lift the America's Cup in the last sixty years. The first was by the Cambria in 1870. The challengers which followed were the Livonia in 1871, Countess of Dufferin in 1875, Atlanta in 1881, Genesta in 1885, Galatea in 1886, Thistle in 1887, Valkyrie II in 1893, Valkyrie III in 1895, and then the five Shamrocks in 1899, 1901, 1903, 1920 and 1930, respectively. If there is another challenge for the America's Cup by Great Britain it will not be made by Sir Thomas Lipton. He has accepted his successive defeats with true sportsmanship. He is now an old man in poor health. The sporting ambition of his life has failed to materialize, but the spirit that animated him has won him a place in public estimation that could hardly have been a prouder one had his efforts been crowned with success.

A WESTERN MODERATOR

In electing Rev. Dr. E. H. Oliver, principal of St. Andrew's College, Saskatoon, Moderator of the General Council the United Church of Canada has for the first time chosen its leader from west of the Great Lakes. Dr. Oliver's predecessors, Drs. G. H. Pligden, James Endicott and W. T. Gunn were citizens of Ontario and residents of Toronto. The importance of its work in the Western Provinces as well as the commanding personality of the Moderator-Elect have no doubt influenced the church's selection. In these provinces the union spirit was very pronounced with the result that the amalgamation of 1925 of the three denominations was more clearly complete than in the Eastern sections.

Dr. Oliver has been an outstanding leader in the progress of the united bodies during the past five years. Active in promoting home missionary extension he has paid special attention to the needs of the foreigner. The curriculum of St. Andrew's College has been shaped under him to train ministers in efficiency for Western conditions. In a recent statement in rebuttal of an attack on the expense of ministerial training, Dr. Oliver contended that the "church required its spirit-filled ministers to be trained, as only trained workers can achieve the best results." His own extended and intimate knowledge of social and economic conditions was drawn upon by the Saskatchewan Government, which deputed him to make a study of farmers' loans on the continent of Europe, and also of the liquor legislation of South Carolina. An attractive personality, possessed of administrative ability and an indefatigable worker, the new Moderator may be expected to give strong leadership to the United Church during the two years of his office.

A NEW OLD BOOK

More than a hundred years ago, a boy, who was an artist's son, was noticed by the local doctor's wife to be attracted by the living things that could be seen in the spacious harbor of Poole, in Dorset. She noticed him because her son was interested in the same kind of creatures. She taught them what she knew and both boys became men widely known. Her own boy, Thomas Bell, wrote many popular books, was president of learned scientific societies, and when old, wrote, at Seabrook, in Hampshire, a Life of the famous Gilbert White. The artist's son was named Philip Henry Gosse. Mrs. Bell set young Philip to collect the various kinds of sea-anemones, and he learned to draw beautifully and color exactly any creature that interested him. When he was fifteen he became a clerk at Poole Harbor, and when he was seventeen he went to Newfoundland to be a clerk to a whaling company, and stayed there eight years. His was dull work; but he had abundant leisure in that quiet place. Philip Gosse had a fine reserve in his hobby. He set himself to study and identify, classify and draw and color all the insects he could find in Newfoundland.

When he was twenty-five he moved into Canada, and for three years became a farmer, with plenty of leisure in the winter months. Ninety-four years ago he wrote his first book on the "Insects of Newfoundland." That book has remained unpublished, but now it is to be offered to the scientific world in a way perhaps quite as interesting as the manner of its writing.

A word more about Philip Gosse. He went back to England from Canada via the United States, with the materials for a book on Canadian Natural history. When he was thirty he published his Canadian book successfully, and later an "Introduction to Zoology." Then he went to Jamaica to study tropical birds and animals and to collect them for the British Museum, and afterwards published numerous scientific and other books, and like the other Poole boys was an honored member of the Royal Society. His first book, on the insects of Newfoundland, remained in manuscript in the fine library of his only son, Sir Edmund Gosse, the eminent literary critic and poet. Who, one might ask, would want a book on Newfoundland's insects? It is wanted and it is coming. Newfoundland is speeding up its educational institutions, and they include a University College—its Memorial College in honor of its sons who died bravely in the war. The founder and first president of the Memorial College, Dr. J. L. Paton, once the famous headmaster of Manchester High School, and Dr. Bruton, formerly a science master there, who was helping Dr. Paton in Newfoundland, knew of this unpublished book, and since Sir Edmund Gosse's death it has been forwarded to them by Dr. Philip Gosse, Sir Edmund's son, himself a distinguished man of science. Dr. Bruton lived long enough to bring it up to date.

MR. CHARLES MACDONALD

Everyone who ever had come in contact with the late Mr. Charles Macdonald will hear of his passing with deep regret. He was widely known all over the province and in his earlier years in Toronto. For a number of years he had been sheriff of the County of Vancouver. The late Mr. Macdonald was a courtly personality, with a disposition which rendered him likeable to all. He was an ardent politician, but unlike the usual run of politicians he made no enemies, for he was of the type who could not fail to make any relationship pleasant. Mr. Macdonald, indeed, was one of those who added a charm to life by his manners and kindness of heart. In Vancouver's citizenship he will be missed.

The Archbishop of York is probably right when criticizing some trends of modern education in saying that "sometimes we have almost lost sight of the fact that education has anything to do with the mind at all."

The surest way to promote and retain prosperity is for everyone to buckle down to his or her job and make the best of it and the most of it.

THREE DAWNS AGO

Three days ago I heard a lark.
But cannot find the place again
From which he rose. I did not mark
Him save by pleasure and by pain.
He made the world be reverent
By his rapture of ascent,
He filled and thrilled the bright, the dim,
To his serene self a thrill.
Glad, not that he looked up to him,
But glad that he looked out on all.
I cannot find the place again,
I did not mark it with my eye
But by my pleasure and my pain—
Pleasure, because the song was glad;
Pain, for it breathed of English sky
And English earth, and left me sad.
I felt that sky, that earth belong
To me, and lost them with the song.
—Sir John Nicholas, in The Sydney Bulletin.

TODAY

Lay down your pen, and set aside your book—
Time will come soon enough for those—
Now music stirs the brook,
Youth unto the rose.

Now winds pipe merrily on ready reeds,
And silver crystal cups the skies;
Pale lilies tell their beads
To dragonflies.

The sun is sweet and heady with content,
And idles through a shadowed way—
Leave books to time unspent—
Give me today!
—Susan Matland, in The New York Evening Post.

FULFILLMENT

Dead days of secret longing line and light
The empty corridors of wasted years
Like open casements on a noontide's bright
And unseen sun. Then somewhere first appears
Your shadow on these lightening lilies
The angel with the promise of these times
Draw near and nearer; shadows pale to gold,
And in my heart a dream's fulfillment chimes.
—Macnair Reid, in The Glasgow Herald.

Knowledge is more than equivalent to force.—Dr. Samuel Johnson.

The ways of the gods are full of Providence.—Marcus Aurelius.

Slight not what's near through aiming at what's far.—Euripides.

Note and Comment

By R. B. D.

More serious mental in the human breast,
Man never is, but always to be blest.

—Pope.

"There is not the most distant hope of any reduction in the tariff." The quotation appeared in The London Times one hundred years ago. The tariff there was not the most distant hope of reducing the United States tariff. Very early in its career as an independent republic therefore it would appear that the United States adopted the principle of protection, and naturally the adoption of that principle, while it did not cause a great deal of apprehension one hundred years ago, was not altogether pleasing to the politicians, merchants and manufacturers of the Mother Country, which had established the Americans as colonialists. The United States market was not very important then, but it was a market of great potentialities.

The tariff which was but an infant one hundred years ago grew with the stuff it was fed upon, and it has been increasing in strength and stature ever since. It fostered and developed the home market and United States increased in population and wealth. Great Britain fostered and developed markets for her goods in all parts of the world, and increased in wealth and influence more rapidly than the United States. Then came the Great War and changed the whole aspect of the business situation. Business was disrupted, old nations were disrupted and new nations were established.

The old nations and the newly-established nations, possibly because they attributed the prosperity and wealth of the United States to the adoption of the principles of protection, all adopted the principle of protection. There is not a free trade nation in the world today—that is not a free trade nation of any importance, with the exception of Great Britain, and even Great Britain has adopted the principle of protection for the labor employed in her industries if not to the product of those industries.

During the present year the United States, which adopted the principle of protection more than a hundred years ago, passed the Hawley-Smoot tariff bill, which practically all the world (including Canada) has accepted as a challenge to a conflict for control of the trade of the world. The Governments of Germany, France, Italy, and of several minor powers, have raised tremendously the duties upon imports from all countries. The Governments of Australia, New Zealand, South Africa and India have adopted the principle of protection. Fifty-two years ago the people of Canada also adopted that principle by endorsing the policy of Sir John A. Macdonald. The National Policy of Canada was adopted as a result of the protective action of the United States. The Parliament of Canada, in special session, has just decided to bring the National Policy up to date, and that decision was due to provocative action on the part of the United States.

There were free traders in Canada in the year 1878, and probably there are theoretical free traders in Canada today. The free traders who opposed the National Policy of Sir John A. Macdonald predicted that Canada would surely suffer and might be ruined by the adoption of that policy. But the National Policy created a new spirit and brought prosperity to Canada; and when the theoretical free traders attained power, they did not materially change that policy. The theoretical free traders in Canada today are predicting that the National Policy which has been brought up to date and into harmony with existing conditions will not only be bad for business but that it will increase the cost of living and create hardships for the average individual. But the policy of the Bennett Government has made provision for safeguarding the interests of the individual as well as for the promoting of the welfare of the manufacturers and producers. The public business of Canada for the last half dozen years has been conducted in the interests of foreigners. Henceforth the public business of Canada will be conducted in the interests of the people of Canada.

Rt. Hon. William Lyon Mackenzie King as the leader of the Government was completely destitute of initiative. He was as timid as a rabbit. He was subject to fits of nervous prostration when anyone mentioned the word "retaliation." He was afraid to act when action was necessary in either foreign or domestic affairs. He halted and stammered when bold and courageous leadership was demanded.

Mr. King's successor is of quite a different type. Mr. Bennett has met Parliament and dominates it by the sheer force and strength of his personality. He has already demonstrated his qualities as a leader. In "straight-flung words and few" he has enunciated the policy of the Government for the stimulation of the languishing policy of unemployment, and that policy has been endorsed by the unexpected majority of fifty-nine. This summary action of the Canadian Parliament will attract the attention of the world and demand the consideration of the British people, who are halting between two opinions on the subject of Imperial trade relations.

Britain Is Saving India From Terror Of Hostile Castes

Noted London Barrister Tells Men's Canadian Club of Conditions and the Task Which Faces the British Government

Whatever is done in the matter of reconstructing India, we must be satisfied that it is for India as a whole and for its teeming millions. British law ended in India today you would, in a very short time, have a state of affairs far worse than they are today. In place of peace you would have war and anarchy, and the country as a whole would be in a far greater state of degradation. We must bring about settlement of the difficulties that will not have those results," declared William John Jeeves, C.B.E., K.C., a noted London barrister, in an address on "India" at a luncheon of the Men's Canadian Club in the Empress Hotel yesterday.

Mr. Jeeves, who spent several months in India in 1927 and 1928, expressed the opinion that the differences in India were not so much between the British administration and the population as between the individual castes, religions, languages and settlements. He said he went to India after reading the book "Mother India" in an effort to see India and learn more about the difficulties of that country.

"I may say that I felt ashamed of my ignorance of the affairs of India. There you find a civilization that has existed for thousands of years, Oriental in nature, and one that cannot be changed by the stroke of a pen. A government must go slowly and surely and consider always that what seems best for us may not be the best for the people of that country," he said.

STATISTICS OF INDIA

India, Mr. Jeeves stated, was a country of vast territory. It covered about 1,968,000 square miles, about twenty times the size of England and the size of the whole of Europe with Russia left out. It has a population of 320,000,000 and nearly 90 per cent live in rural communities. Only 10 per cent of that vast number is outside of agriculture. India has a small urban population, there being only thirty-three towns over 100,000 in population and only two over a million. Dealing with the rural population, Mr. Jeeves stated he found there were about half a million villages with around 600 to a community, cultivating their little strip of land with oen and crude implements just the same as in generations of the past. Security of life and just administration is the principle for which they live, he asserted.

"Great Britain," the speaker said, "has taken a big part in the work of reconstructing India, but you see how difficult it is to deal with a population of that kind and be able to see any real, strong public feeling. The people form their views by the necessities of life."

The country, he stated, was divided into various systems of government. British India only formed a small part of the Indian Empire, the remainder being composed of Indian states, not under British rule, but subject to British treaties in respect to security. He said it would not be a very simple matter to have one government for the whole country because it would be difficult to cater to every class, and that means, but the matter does not end there."

LANGUAGES AND RELIGION

Continuing, Mr. Jeeves said, "You have the various languages to deal with. There are 222 vernacular languages in India and only twelve leading languages. These languages belong to entirely different families. It has been said that a man, in order to go through India and make himself understood to every class, would be required to know as many languages as in the whole of Europe. There are only 2,500,000 people who speak the English language, and those are in the urban centres of population."

In addition to the languages, Mr. Jeeves said, the country has its various religions and races. The main ones being Hinduism and Mohammedanism and Buddhism. The Hindu religion embraces 216,000,000 souls, the Mohammedans 70,000,000 and Buddhist 11,000,000.

The Hindu and Mohammedan are totally different races and very antagonistic one to the other, and are products of long ages of civilization and almost every act of life is actually a part of the religion, such as the preparation of food, washing of eating and drinking vessels and daily ablutions.

The speaker said that these peoples hold their religions very dearly. Each has its special days of worship and festival, and often times they clash, with the result that there is continual strife. The Mohammedans, he said, were urging a special representation of their own people to look after their own communal affairs. They consider they dare not trust their lives to the administration by the majority of the people among whom they live.

CASTES OF INDIA

Mr. Jeeves referred to the matter of castes and stated that in India there were no fewer than 2,300 different castes and sub-castes. "A man, he said, 'is born into a caste and in that caste he remains no matter what rank he may acquire. His children belong to that caste and so it has gone on for centuries past. They are intensely jealous of the privileges of the caste to which they belong and that presents another difficulty. It is the custom of ages that members of a caste will do anything to help one and other and I understand they are very generous in that respect. You can readily see what happens when one of a caste gets into power, growing out of the sentiment for the segregation of the castes, but in this the people must be carried with you if you are to meet with any success."

Considerable has been said and written of the oppressed classes or castes in India, and Mr. Jeeves explained that the oppressed classes were mostly from the Hindu caste and were those of whom it was felt by other castes that touch caused pollution and approach may cause pollution. These classes, he said, were occupied in the most menial of labors and their children have to be educated in separate schools. About twenty per cent of the Hindus were looked upon in that way.

Speaking of a United India, Mr. Jeeves held the opinion that a United India with communal representation was only possible if the people of India could be carried towards that goal. He mentioned the illiteracy of the Indian population and quoted figures from the 1921 census which proved that conditions had been improved in the last twenty years. He mentioned the army, in which there are 60,000 British and 1,500,000 Indian, which was maintained to give security to the whole of the Empire.

He told of the work of the Civil Service, in which more than half were of Indian birth. The same, he stated, was true of many other branches of administration. "This shows that our rule has not been a selfish one, simply for the aggrandizement of Great Britain, but rather to bring the Indian people into the various channels of administration with a view to the ultimate self-government of India by the people of the country," he stated.

He reviewed the work of the Simon Commission, headed by Sir John Simon, which spent three years in India, and referred to the reports as "fascinating volumes of history and sympathetic from the Indian point of view."

In conclusion, Mr. Jeeves said: "From these remarks you may readily see what extraordinary difficulties confront us. It is a vast and what an enormous task Great Britain has in her efforts to reconcile the people of that country. It requires sympathy and care, and whatever is done, in the matter of reconstructing India we must be satisfied that it is for India as a whole and for the teeming millions of population."

W. H. L. Haldane, vice-president of the club, presided and introduced the speaker. A vote of thanks was moved by Lindley Crease, K.C.

Say United States Will Suffer More Than Britain Through Canada's Tariffs

British Protectionists Agree Dominion Is Warranted in Taking Measures

By CARROLL BINDER (Copyright, 1930, by The Chicago Daily News Foreign Service)

LONDON, Sept. 18.—The United States will suffer much more than Great Britain from the new Canadian tariffs, in the opinion of British commentators. Lord Curzon is delighted that preference is accorded cottons whose content is only one-third British, instead of that having one-half British content, as previously. Canada is relatively a minor market for Lancashire cotton, but the British have requested better treatment and are pleased to see that United States cotton exporters are worse hit. But Great Britain will suffer heavily through the stiff increase on woollens, because it exports $35,000,000 worth annually to Canada.

IRON AND STEEL EXPORTS

Certain British iron and steel exports as well as miscellaneous commodities also will suffer from the new tariff, but again far less than American agricultural implements and products.

MANY SPEAK ON STATE CONTROL

Health Insurance Discussed Before Royal Commission at Victoria Hearing

WILL CONTINUE TODAY

Further representations were made to the Royal Commission on State Health Insurance and Maternity Benefits last evening at a scheduled final public hearing in the Court House. The commission listened with every courtesy to viewpoints put forward by a large number of spokesmen for fraternal and other organizations of men and women in the province.

After a three-and-a-half-hour meeting it was decided to continue this morning at 10 o'clock at the Members' Room at the Legislative Buildings to hear other speakers. C. F. Davis, M.P.P., chairman; Dr. J. J. Gillis, M.P.P., and George Pearson, M.P.P., appeared for the commission.

Dr. J. McDermid, on behalf of the B.C. Medical Association, spoke of the successful operation of a scheme of health insurance in the State of Victoria, Australia, under which small rural hospitals were not only paying their way, but did so without any call for governmental assistance. Dr. McDermid promised to file further particulars of the plan with the commission.

Arthur J. Lohgrin, of Vancouver, on behalf of the Christian Science churches, stressed the need for freedom of religious rights, and asked consideration of the known viewpoints of his church, either by way of provision for conscientious objection to any compulsory scheme of state health insurance, or through other means. Mr. Lohgrin submitted a well-prepared brief in support of his case, stressing the view that state assistance tended towards creating further dependence of those who would benefit under the plan.

VIEW OF LUMBERMEN
Clarence M. O'Brien, K.C., for the British Columbia Loggers' Association and the British Columbia Lumbermen's Association, asked consideration of the lumbermen's viewpoint that owing to extreme depression in the markets for British Columbia logs and lumber, any added burden of cost to production would serve to slow up the industry's recovery to normal times, and thus hurt the province as a whole.

No objection was entered to the justice of the principle of the system or otherwise, but only to its inception at a time when the lumber industry was carrying all the cost it could absorb.

Russell H. McDuff, of the British Columbia Pharmaceutical Association, asked further time for his association to receive the details of the British system of state health and unemployment insurance. The druggists were vitally concerned in the issue, and would like to make representations at a later date, he said.

Frank E. Hill, for the Loyal Order of Moose, pointed to the fact that creation of state health measures would come as a serious disturbance to the work of fraternal orders, some with international affiliations, and large building and other funds held in trusteeship. If the plan were instituted the Moose order, he said, would like to be at liberty to serve in carrying out the system through its existing facilities.

REVIEWS BRITISH PLAN
W. F. Fullerton, for the Ancient Order of Foresters, gave an interesting review of the British plan of insurance, going at some length into the details of the operation of the system of benefits paid to workers during ill health. Mr. Fullerton promised to file a copy of his brief with the commission, and was thanked for his assistance.

George McGregor, chairman of the Jubilee Hospital Board, endorsed the views of the B.C. Hospitals Association, and said state health insurance would be adopted in the long run as the only means of encouraging payment of bills for necessary medical and hospital services. When people were sick they had no money to pay, and the only alternative was to collect when people were in good health and able to do so, he averred.

At the best of times, British Columbia hospitals were lucky to collect 60 per cent of their bills, he stated.

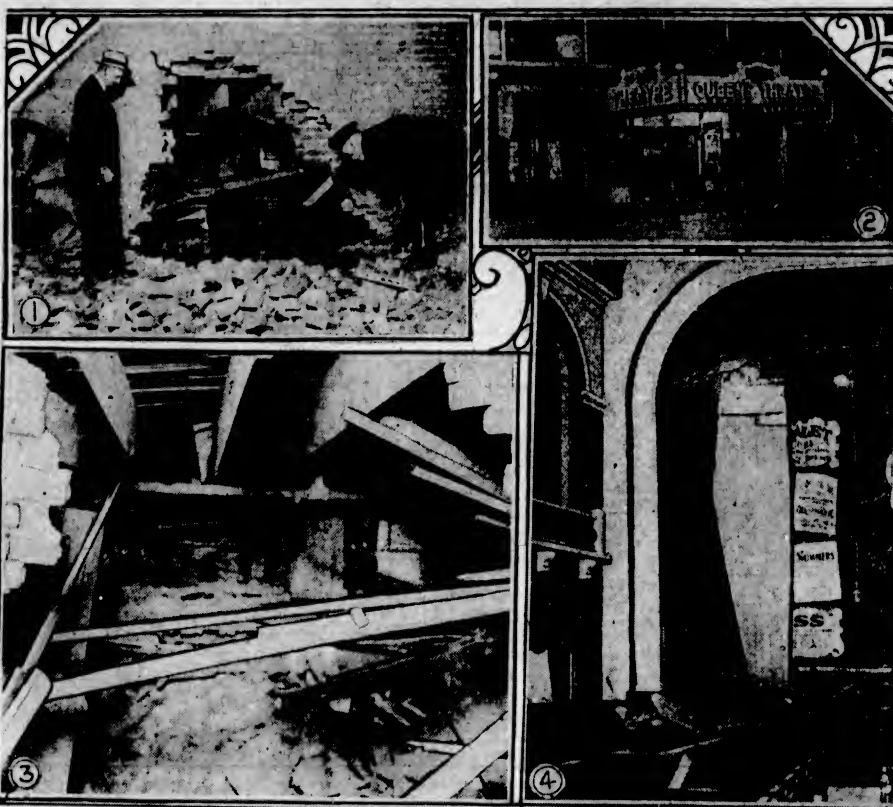

Frank Le Roy added further representations on behalf of the Eagles, also stressing the case for fraternal organizations in the altered conditions state health insurance might bring about.

Mrs. J. Z. Hall, for the Victorian Order of Nurses, Vancouver, expressed the interest of that organization in the proposal of health insurance. Mrs. Hall urged more attention to prenatal care in maternity cases, and opposed cash benefits which might be used unwisely and leave necessary care unprotected.

Motorist Is Fined
Daniel Moreas was convicted by Magistrate George Jay in the city police court yesterday on a charge of driving his automobile to the common danger and was fined $25.

Suspended Sentence
D. F. Howlett, who pleaded guilty to a charge of false pretences in the city police court on Wednesday, was released on suspended sentence by Magistrate Jay yesterday.

Theatre Damaged in Bombing Outrage

WHEN a racketeer's dynamite bomb exploded under Queen's Theatre, Hamilton, Ont., a hole big enough to drive a truck through was blown through the building, nearby windows were smashed, several thousand dollars' worth of damage was done and citizens even at the far end of the city thought an earthquake was under way. Above are shown features of the blast: (1) Hole in rear end of theatre blown out by bomb; (2) general view of Queen's Theatre on Barton and Ottawa Streets, where the blast occurred; (3) showing wreckage under floor of theatre near where bomb exploded, and (4) inside view of the theatre.

SUGGESTS MEANS OF ENCOURAGING WORK

Mrs. Staines Addresses W.C.T.U. Members—Officers Elected—Social Time Enjoyed

VANCOUVER, Sept. 18.—Advocating the use of literature as "weapons of defence" was the point mainly emphasized by Mrs. C. M. Staines when she addressed the annual convention of the Provincial Women's Christian Temperance Union today in Chown United Church here. She strongly advised that reading courses be associated with every union and also the use of competitions where they were popular. The distribution of literature by way of placing in libraries, in colleges and by mailing its particularly emphasized, while she called upon those who had been interested in this work for some time to create literature of their own.

"In what better way," Mrs. Staines went on, "can the work we are doing reach the public?"

A plan of work for the following year was discussed, while Mrs. Forrest provincial evangelistic superintendent, conducted the memorial service.

Mrs. J. A. Gillespie was re-elected president of the Provincial Women's Christian Temperance Union. Other members of the new executive include Mrs. David Spencer, honorary

GOVERNMENT PRINTING BUREAU IS INSPECTED

Esquimalt Women's Institute Members Display Keen Interest in Equipment in Operation

Members of the Esquimalt Women's Institute were shown over the Government Printing Bureau this week by C. F. Banfield, the King's printer, who explained the operation of the various complicated processes involved in the printer's work. The building, the southwest corner of Government and Superior Streets was completed in May, 1928, and is the last word in modern printing accommodation and equipment.

The visitors were conducted successively through the composing room, with its linotype batteries; the press room, where printed matter is turned out; the stockroom, and bindery. As a memento of the occasion each member of the party was furnished with a copy of the latest tourist booklet issued by the Bureau of Provincial Information, entitled "Beautiful British Columbia."

In welcoming members of the institute, Mr. Banfield pointed out that the bureau was owned and operated for the citizens of the province, and that visitors were welcome to visit the institution at all times. The building and its equipment, he said, was up-to-date to be found on the continent for its purpose, and notable economies had resulted from improved facilities, he stated.

Weddings

SLATER-REASON
A quiet wedding took place last night at the Douglas Street Baptist Church at 8 o'clock when Rev. F. W. McKinnon united in marriage William Reason, youngest daughter of Mr. T. E. Reason, 336 Whittier Avenue, and of the late Mrs. Reason, and Mr. Frederick Slater, only son of Mr. F. Slater, Dunsmuir Road, and the late Mrs. Slater. The guests were seated with white bows of tulle, and during the ceremony a floral arch of mauve, white and pink asters and greenery. The bride was given in marriage by her father, and during the signing of the register Miss Jean McGowan sang, "Because."

The bride wore a pretty silk ensemble of powder blue crepe de Chine with a white blouse trimmed with blue, and a small white hat of moirai and lace. For traveling she carried a bouquet of Ophelia roses and pink sweet peas. She was attended by Miss Mary Trowsdale in a lovely yellow frock of broad satin, made with no sleeves and a long flared skirt. She wore a lace straw hat to match and carried a bouquet of pale mauve and pink asters and sweet peas. Mr. Elmer Watson supported the groom, and the ushers were Mr. Robert Trowsdale and Mr. William Leahy.

A reception followed the service at the home of the bride's father, which had been decorated with a variety of early autumn blooms. The supper table was centered with the three-tier bride cake and was decorated with vases of mauve and pink sweet peas.

After a motor trip on the Island Mr. and Mrs. Slater will make their home at Esquimalt. For traveling the bride chose a frock of sand-colored crepe de Chine over which she wore a navy blue coat with beaver collar and cuffs and a close-fitting felt hat to match.

SELWOOD-HEANEY
Christ Church Cathedral was the scene of a very pretty but brief wedding last night at 8 o'clock, when Rev. Dean Quinlan performed the marriage service for Eleanor Lindsay, youngest daughter of the late Mr. Joseph Heaney and Mrs. Heaney, 460 Superior Street, and Mr. William Selwood, son of Mr. and Mrs. E. Selwood, of Bagendon, Gloucestershire, Gloucestershire, England.

The bride, who was given in marriage by her brother-in-law, Mr. J. D. Taylor, wore a lovely French frock of silk lace with a poppy design running through it, which was fashioned with a sleeveless bolero bodice and a full skirt which reached to the floor, and it had a strand of orange blossoms falling from one shoulder. She wore a picture hat of white moirai turned off her face, and carried a shower bouquet of Ophelia roses lilies of the valley.

The matron of honor was her sister, Mrs. J. D. Taylor, in a gown of powder blue cut velvet, made with no sleeves and a long full skirt, and a black felt hat trimmed with touches of white. She carried a spray of monarda. The best man was Mr. William Heaney, brother of the bride.

A small reception of relatives was held after the service in the Prince Albert suite at the Empress Hotel, where supper was served. The table was most artistically arranged with garlands of maidenhair fern and tiny white flowers, and was centered with the bride's cake.

Mr. and Mrs. Selwood left at midnight for Vancouver and will spend their honeymoon at Grouse Mountain and in San Francisco, and will later make their home at Ahoy. The bride traveled in a gown of black chiffon velvet with a yoke of beige lace over flesh-colored silk, and a small hat of black cut velvet.

St. Andrew's Is Setting For Wedding

The marriage took place last night at St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church, Rev. H. P. B. Lattrell officiating, of Irene Baird, third daughter of Captain and Mrs. A. M. Alken, Linden Avenue, to Mr. Eric Day, son of Mr. and Mrs. George Day, of Vancouver.

The church was beautifully arranged for the occasion with a profusion of autumn flowers and ferns, under the direction of Mrs. Stuart Robertson and friends of the bride. Given in marriage by her father, the bride looked charming in her wedding gown of ivory satin, made with a fitted bodice, shirred to the waistline and a long full skirt which hung to her ankles. The bodice, which was sleeveless, was adorned with a full satin bow at the back. Her veil of Brussels net was held with a coronet of orange blossoms, and she wore lace mittens.

A bouquet of Ophelia roses, sweet peas and carnations, completed her beautiful toilette.

BRIDAL ATTENDANTS
There were two attendants, Mrs. Robert Tillyer, as matron of honor, wearing a gown of blue lace, made with a three-tier skirt and a blue moirai hat. Her bouquet was composed of blue delphiniums and pink carnations.

Miss Ethyl Alken was bridesmaid, wearing a becoming frock of green nixon and lace, a lace cape falling over one shoulder and caught. A satin bow at one side of the waist added a smart touch to the frock. Her bouquet was of peach gladioli and fern. Mr. Harold Day was best man, and Messrs. James Menzies, Stuart Robertson and Emerson Showers.

During the signing of the register, Mrs. Thomas Bowden sang "At Dawning" and "O Promise Me." A reception was held at 1022 Linden Avenue, the home of the bride's parents, where Mrs. Alken, mother of the bride, assisted in receiving, wearing a smart gown of beige georgette and lace and close-fitting hat to match. The ushers also wore a corsage of sweet peas.

Following supper, at which a number of young friends of the bride and groom were present, the bride and groom left to spend their honeymoon in Vancouver, Seattle and Portland, and will later make their home at the Empress Hotel.

The bride wore a brown and fawn tweed coat and skirt and French felt hat to match, and a handsome red fox fur. She carried a corsage coat. Among the beautiful presents received was a four-piece silver tea service from the Liquor Control Board, where the bride had been employed. The ushers were Messrs. Stuart Robertson and Emerson Showers.

B.C. SEED AND BULB INDUSTRY HOLDS PROMISE

W. H. Robertson Believes Conditions Are Right for Extensive Culture

APPLES OF PROVINCE FAVORED IN BRITAIN

Opportunity exists in British Columbia for the expansion of seed and bulb growing by those experienced in the business, believes W. H. Robertson, director of plant industry, who returned to Victoria recently from the World's Horticultural Congress and the Imperial Fruit Conference, both held at London, England.

Mr. Robertson visited Holland and studied conditions under which 15,000 acres of land are given over to bulb culture, resulting in annual exports of $16,000,000 worth of bulbs at low government valuations.

In England, Mr. Robertson visited Sutton's, Watkins & Simpson, and other internationally famous seed houses, many of whom have seeds grown for them on Vancouver Island.

"I think we can do more in this province in the seed growing line," Mr. Robertson stated. "Production on Vancouver Island and at other selected points in the province, should be a satisfactory as it is in Great Britain and Europe."

GREAT POSSIBILITIES
"People entering the business, however, should be told that it means hard work and that experience gained elsewhere may not be applied to local conditions. New men entering the business should begin in a small way and gain experience as they go along. I firmly believe there are great possibilities in the seed business for the man who knows the work," Mr. Robertson continued.

At Long Ashton, East Malling and other places in England, Mr. Robertson saw elaborate research plans under way at British experimental stations, and expressed admiration for the work being done in this connection.

Arising out of the Imperial Fruit Conference was the fact that Canadian apples are arriving at the Old Country market in excellent condition and that the quality of pack and general standard of the product is being well maintained. This has led to a clear preference for the Canadian apples in the markets of Great Britain, Mr. Robertson was advised.

DUTCH AUCTION
While in Holland, the director of plant industry was privileged to attend a bulb auction which had radical differences from auctioneering as understood in this country. Bidding is noiseless and consists in flashing a signal to a board by means of an electric push button. A large clock with a revolving hand points successively to prices, ranging downwards from the highest to the lowest. When the bidder wishes to be heard he presses a button at his chair and the clock is stopped. Instead of competitive bidding in cumulating prices the first bid takes all and is the highest bid. The same circuit which stops the clock flashes the number of the bidder's chair to the board, identifying the buyer for the auctioneer's assistants.

At other points in Holland Mr. Robertson saw produce barges with fruit and vegetables floated down canals into public markets, where buying takes place right from the barge. The bulb growing areas, though intensively cultivated, have little that could not be duplicated in British Columbia, Mr. Robertson believes.

Fellowship to Open Season October 23

The New Education Fellowship will hold its first public meeting of the season on Thursday, October 23. It was decided at a meeting of the executive held yesterday afternoon in the Empress Hotel lounge. Mr. B. C. Nicholas, the chairman, presided, and two changes took place in the executive when Captain W. Brown was appointed treasurer in succession to Mrs. Hyndman, and Miss Clay's resignation as convener of the programme committee was accepted with regret.

The report on correspondence noted that the organization had sent a criticism, as requested, on the British Picture Producers' film, "British Columbia Forests," shown to a group of the members earlier in the summer, and Mr. Flintock had written acknowledging this with thanks.

FIFTY YEARS OF CONSTANT ENTERPRISE

MASTERS OF THEIR BUSINESS

This great tower is called a "cracking still" and the men who run it are masters of the oil refining business.

They have to be, for the cracking process depends on terrific heat and terrific pressure. Gauges have to be watched for the slightest variation in order to obtain the perfection which Imperial's testing laboratories demand before any product leaves the refinery.

The cracking still means money to every motorist. It breaks down the crude petroleum into an extra percentage of gasoline which could not be obtained with old-fashioned methods. Without this extra supply it would be impossible to meet today's demand for gasoline except by great increases in cost and price.

The cracking still is one of the ways in which Imperial Oil has met the new needs of transportation and industry during the fifty years since the company began.

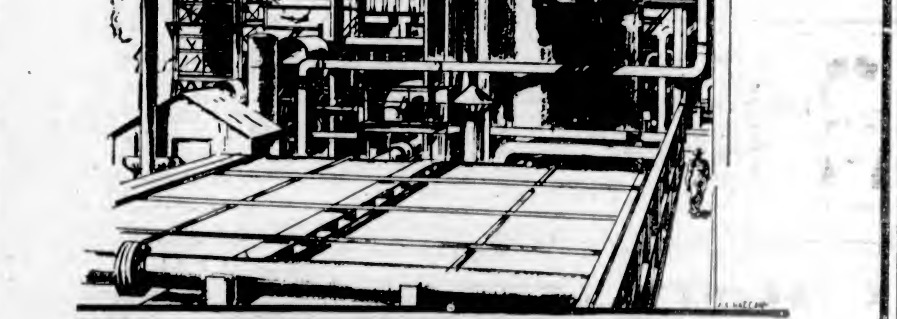

Because each new need has been met with new enterprise and perfection, Imperial has grown from one small plant at Sarnia, Ontario, to six great refineries—stations in every corner of Canada its ships on the Atlantic and Pacific—nine thousand of its men at work, from the Arctic to Peru.

Fifty years of constant enterprise are in the products Imperial Oil sells today.

Marvelube is Imperial's finest motor oil.

Imperial 3-Star and Imperial Ethyl are its best gasolines.

The patient gain their ends at last. But often when the need is past.

—Mother West Wind.

Peter Rabbit was nothing if not patient. He spent a great deal of time—more than he should have—over by the old stone wall alongside of the Old Orchard. He wanted to see and talk to Striped Chipmunk. And, as he couldn't possibly go where Striped Chipmunk was, he had to wait for Striped Chipmunk to come where he was. It seemed to him that never in all his life had Striped Chipmunk been so retiring.

At last, early one morning, Peter's patience was rewarded. Striped Chipmunk popped out from between the stones of the old wall almost over Peter's head. "Hello, Peter Rabbit!" cried Striped Chipmunk in that sprightly way of his. "You seem to have been spending a lot of time around here."

"How do you know?" demanded Peter bluntly. "You haven't been around."

"Who says I haven't been around?" asked Striped Chipmunk, and chuckled when he said it. "I do," decided Peter. "I've wasted a lot of time watching for you and you haven't been around."

"Let me correct you, Peter," said Striped Chipmunk. "You may have wasted a lot of time. I dare say you have. However, you always seem to have plenty to waste. But you are wrong when you say I haven't been around. You haven't seen me, that is all. There hasn't been a day when I haven't been around. There are some advantages in seeing without being seen."

Meanwhile, Peter Rabbit was staring very hard at Striped Chipmunk. It was impolite. Yes, sir, it was impolite. "Do you ever change your coat?" blurted Peter Rabbit. Striped Chipmunk looked puzzled. he was puzzled. "The same way you do," said he. "I shed my winter coat in the Spring and get a thicker and warmer coat in the Winter."

"I mean," explained Peter, "do you sometimes wear one kind of a coat one day and another kind of coat another day?"

It was Striped Chipmunk's turn to stare. What do you mean by such a foolish question as that? he demanded. "It isn't foolish," protested Peter. I asked the question because I want to know. Do you, Striped Chipmunk?"

"Of course I don't!" retorted Striped Chipmunk. "Of course I don't! Have you ever known anyone who wears a fur coat who did?"

Peter admitted that he never had known anyone with a fur coat who could change his coat at will. "Then I suppose," said he, "that you always wear this striped coat that you've got now."

"Of course," replied Striped Chipmunk. "That is why I was named Striped Chipmunk."

"Then I must have been asleep or dreaming, or there is something the matter with my eyes," declared Peter. "And I am not the only one."

"What do you mean by such a foolish question as that?" he demanded

Some of the feathered folk over here in the Old Orchard are suffering from the same trouble. I was certain that I was all right. I was. Sammy Jay says the same thing. Sammy thought you had fallen into something black. What are you chuckling about, Striped Chipmunk? I don't like being laughed at."

Striped Chipmunk made no reply. He continued to chuckle for a moment or two and then he disappeared as suddenly as he had appeared.

This Great Healing Oil Must Banish Eczema and Skin Troubles

Or Your Money Back

Make up your mind today that you are going to give your skin real chance to get well. Never mind what caused it—you've probably been a lot of other people, convinced that the only thing to use was an ointment or salve (some of them are very good), but in the big majority of cases these sticky salves simply clog the pores, and the condition primarily remains the same. Go to MacFarlane Drug Co., Owl Drug Store or any good drug store today and get an original bottle of Moore's Emerald Oil (full strength).

The very first application will give you relief, and a few short treatments will thoroughly convince you that by sticking faithfully to it for a short while your skin troubles will be a thing of the past.

One bottle we know will show you beyond all question that you have at last discovered one sure way to restore your skin to perfect health.

Remember that Moore's Emerald Oil is a clean, powerful, penetrating, antiseptic oil that does not stain or leave a greasy residue, and that it must give complete satisfaction of your money cheerfully refunded.

GOLD-BEARING QUARTZ FOUND NEAR VICTORIA

Leech River is Again Attracting Attention in Mining Way

J. W. ARCHER BELIEVES HE HAS MOTHER LODE

Believing that he has located the mother lode whence the riches in placer mining in the Leech River were derived, J. W. Archer, of this city, has located a large quartz showing within one mile of the C.N.R. line beyond Sooke. So confident of his ground is the locator, that he has named the main claim of the group Mother Lode.

Mr. Archer and his party spent about eight days prospecting in the hills around the locality. They were able to locate a well-defined lead which carries up the side of one of the mountains there for a distance of at least four miles. The body is wide and surface specimens brought to the city have assayed at over $240 to the ton. The proximity to the railway, in the opinion of Mr. Archer, joined with the body which is exposed, will make the property one that will pay well for development.

The property adjoins the claims owned by Thomas Pascoe, and these claims, Mr. Archer says, have just been bonded for some $30,000. During his prospecting trip he found a number of placer mines at work in the old Leech River gravels, the returns being sufficient to afford a living to the miners.

Following the location of claims by Mr. Archer, there have been a number of others who have visited the location and have staked in the vicinity. The quartz veins, which are well defined, are traceable for long distances, it is stated.

The father was very disappointed with his boy's progress at school, and the end of the term had brought a rather bad report from the headmaster.

"Look here, Tommy, you'll have to buck up," said the father.

"There must be an alteration!"

"Well, dad," said the boy, "can't there be an alteration in the school?"

"What do you mean?" asked his father.

"Why, it's like this," explained Tommy, "I had an awful time of it last term—aren't there any schools which advertise 'easy terms'?"

Wins Free Trip to Honolulu

Miss Laura Edwards Wins Free Trip to Honolulu

"Which do you prefer, the free trip to Honolulu or the thousand dollars in cash?" asked Mr. E. A. Morris of the lady who presented the holiday certificate bearing the winning number on Tuesday morning. "Oh, I'll take the cash," said Miss Edwards. "I am trying to recuperate from a recent illness and you can't possibly realize what this means to me. It seems too good to be true."

According to the rules of the contest, the holders of the Holiday Certificates were given one week in which to present the Certificate bearing the first number chosen by the committee on Monday, September 8. As no Certificate bearing this number was presented, another number was chosen by the same committee on Monday, September 15. The number was 0219409, and this was the number of the Certificate presented by Miss Edwards.

Miss Edwards is at present residing in South Bellingham and is a frequent visitor to Vancouver.

That Body of Hours

By James W. Barton, M.D.
NOW CHAMPIONS BECAME CHAMPIONS

I watched a baseball pitcher the other day, a young man, but one who bids fair to reach the top.

The outstanding point about his pitching was not his speed, the curve of the ball, the "round up" of his delivery. The outstanding feature was the coolness, the relaxed condition and position of his body, of his every movement when he was not actually pitching the ball to the batter.

I watched Pancho Villa, world's flyweight champion, defeat an opponent with ease. The outstanding feature of his work was the relaxed condition of his body when he was not directly attacking or defending himself.

I watched Gus Sonnenberg, world's heavyweight wrestler, as he wrestled the strongest man I've ever seen in the ring. This man threw Sonnenberg through the ropes, and over the ropes, but still Sonnenberg would quietly and slowly crawl back under the ropes and the struggle would begin again. Sonnenberg finally winning out with his famous flying tackle.

Now what is the keynote of the champion's style? What gives him the reserve energy to go on to victory?

Relaxation. I have spoken before about the Chinese and their lower blood pressure and the lower rate at which the processes of their bodies do their work.

This means that the amount of food and energy used by the tissues of the body in maintaining ordinary health is less than that required by us because it would seem that as a people we are just a little more tensed all the time.

That this is true was proven recently by Dr. H. Necheles, of the University of Chicago.

He showed that in Westerners during sleep the rate at which the tissues did their work was much lower than when they were awake, whereas in Chinese students the rate during sleep was not much slower than when they were awake. "On the basis of these results, it may be conjectured that regardless of climate, the lower rate in the Chinese is partly due to a greater degree of constant relaxation."

The lesson, of course, is obvious. You and I, if we are to conserve our energy, if we are to be at our best mentally and physically, must cultivate this habit of relaxation. We keep our bodies tensed and alert, when there isn't the slightest need for it, and then wonder why we are so tired, having apparently done nothing to cause tiredness.

Relaxing mind and body, whenever possible, will conserve our energies for the time or times when they will be needed.

Druggist—I speak from experience. This is the best tonic for nerves. I take it myself. Two dollars a bottle.

Customer—It's done you good anyway, if you've got the nerve to ask that price for it.

LANCASHIRE MILLS TO TRY MASS PRODUCTION

Concerted Effort to Be Made to Recover Lost Ground in Coarse Cotton Trade

Much interest has been taken by members of the Manchester Royal Exchange this week in the latest move by The Lancashire Cotton Corporation. The combine has addressed a letter to all users of coarse yarns suitable for the heavier cloth trade, where so much ground has been lost. The letter states that the company is anxious to collaborate in endeavors to bring this business back to Lancashire.

"We realize that this would require various experiments to ascertain the types of cloth required and the suitability of our yarns for such cloths. We are prepared to bear our share in such experiments and make you the following offers:

A list of prices is then given, which shows very considerable reductions when compared with current quotations, reductions which in the opinion of the trade generally are sufficient to make cloth prices considerably lower. The prices are based on 6d futures, and will vary up or down according to fluctuations in these. The firm are prepared to accept orders on this basis up till the end of February next. It is to be hoped that by then we shall have seen concrete evidence of the advantages of bulk buying and mass production.—London Stock Exchange Gazette.

Kind Old Gentleman: "Are you in pain, my little man?"

Boy: "No—of The pain's in me."

ther, a dead certainty is as certain as death. And having progressed so far, we find suddenly that that is how it started—that is, the expression "a dead certainty."

For this idiom is nothing more nor less than a corruption of the phrase "as certain as death."

"A dead certainty" was originally a race course metaphor, being applied to a horse who was sure to win. Subsequently its usage broadened out to that which it enjoys today. A stockbroker is a man who knows all about shocks and starts.

How It Started

Anything which will positively happen may truly be said to be a dead certainty.

There is nothing more certain than a dead certainty. In fact, developing this thought just a bit further,

AN IMPORTANT STATEMENT

OUR position as the largest one-price tailoring organization in the British Empire is recognized as a great Canadian achievement.

It also places on our shoulders a tremendous responsibility to Canadian men.

Because we are the leaders in our industry more is expected of us; particularly now when men are demanding greater value for their clothing dollar.

We have no thought of standing still or resting on past achievements. We must strive to retain public confidence and move forward to more business by giving still greater value.

Therefore, in selecting the woollens and materials from which Tip Top suits and overcoats are to be made our sole idea was to give more quality.

Tremendous volume naturally provides us with a greater buying power than our competitors.

This buying power was particularly effective in buying for this season when general market conditions were uncertain and "cash buying talked".

We were actually able to select our Fall and Winter ranges from woollens that were selling 20% higher than we paid for them.

On top of this saving, which is being turned over to our patrons, we are putting more workmanship into the styling, tailoring and finishing of our clothing.

The net result of all this is an astonishing step forward to greater value and improved service—at strictly One Price $27 to measure.

Before buying your clothes (regardless of the price you have in mind to pay) visit the Tip Top store in your city.

Come and satisfy yourself of our claims. We welcome those who come to investigate just as cordially as those who come to buy.

Faithfully yours,

H. R. Mackenzie

FLIN FLON PLANS DAILY PRODUCTION OF 3,000 TONS

Company Is Months Ahead of Schedule—Equipment Impressive

LAKE PUMPED OUT TO ALLOW OPEN MINING

Manitoba's first big metal mine is now producing from both surface and underground operations. It is intended to mine 3,000 tons daily from the open pit and 1,000 tons from underground workings. The tonnage was being increased as additional plant comes into service. The mill is in operation and the furnaces are now treating zinc concentrates. The Northern Miner reports, following a visit of inspection, in the open pits giant Marion electric shovels scoop the grey clay overburden into cars, which are hauled away by eighty-five-ton C.G.E. electric locomotives and used for fill. Monarch churn drills bore five-inch holes into the ore at four-foot intervals, and these are loaded with high explosive and blasted to shatter the ore into pieces that can be picked up by the electric shovel. These holes are thirty-five to forty feet deep and when a group of ten or twelve are blasted at once many hundreds of tons of ore are broken. The great shovel picks up three tons at a time and loads it into specially constructed railway dump cars. It is hauled to the main crusher near the shaft and there, together with ore from the mine, is broken down to six-inch size.

EQUIPMENT IS IMPRESSIVE
Ore from the mine is hoisted from the 650-foot level. It comes up in great skips, ten tons at a load, and is fed to the gyratory breaker. The powerful hoist is capable of bringing 3,000 tons to the surface in eight hours, but will for the present lift 1,000 tons in that time. The hoist and shaft houses are strongly built of steel and concrete. The shaft itself is timbered with steel. The whole mine head structure is both fireproof and durable, being designed for heavy duty, long life and safety.

LAKE DRAINED
The open pit work is of unusual interest, for the ore was partly covered by water when the operations started. Two great dams were built and a considerable part of the Flin Flon Lake was pumped out to permit cheap surface mining operations and complete extraction of the wide part of the ore body. This bold plan has been carried out very successfully and the big shovels are now lifting the former lake bottom, as well as ore and rock, in making the railway approaches to the pit. There was, in the neighborhood of the first shaft, a greenstone hill, with ore on each flank. This has been leveled. Underground at the 650-foot level ore is being hauled to the shaft in trains of ten-ton cars by electric locomotives. The ore is milled above scraper level and passed down by several openings. Giant scrapers operated by electric hoists pull the ore along the scraper level to the loading pockets.

SIX MONTHS AHEAD
Power from Island Falls was turned on at Flin Flon on June 10, or six months ahead of schedule. The mine, crusher and concentrating plant were then put in operation. Starting in July with a production of 500 tons of ore, the mine output has already been increased. The regular 3,000-ton mine output will soon be reached. The treatment of zinc concentrate has begun and the copper department will be ready in a few weeks. The company will be shipping refined zinc and blister copper before the end of the year.

NEWSPRINT STATISTICS

Production of newsprint from Canadian mills during the month of August showed a slight decrease from that of the month of July, as shown below. This is due largely to the seasonal slackening and it is expected that the balance of the year will show an increase in the consumption of newsprint.

Production for August, 1930, is 23,000 tons below corresponding month of 1929, which is due largely to the business recession through which we are passing.

DR. CUPID'S CLINICAL NOTES

A woman is capable of only one great love in her life; a pity that she can't tell it from the other. The friendship between two women is less genuine than the friendship between a man and a woman, which is not genuine at all. Women cannot expect always to be misunderstood.

A flirt is either a girl who dares not have the courage of her feelings or one who has the courage of her feelings. Love can generally stand anything except a test. Love's only excuse is that it does not last.

No doubt the ambitious succeed because they have so little comp-

JAPAN'S FINANCES

TOKIO, Sept. 18.—Kunio Hijioka, governor of the Bank of Japan, today announced Japan would not seek renewal of a credit of 100,000,000 yen (about $50,000,000) established in London and New York last November to strengthen the Empire's monetary position preparatory to lifting the gold embargo January 11, 1930.

The credit, established in equal parts in London and New York, expires November 20. No part of it has been used, and the credit now is unnecessary.

Hijioka's statement was interpreted as meaning the Government would not restore the gold embargo despite considerable agitation in some commercial circles favoring such a course.

TORONTO STOCKS

TORONTO, Sept. 18.—With the new tariff no longer a bullish factor in the local market, interest lapsed and prices came down slowly on the Toronto Stock Exchange today. With but few exceptions the decline was gradual.

International Nickel, Brazilian, Montreal Power, lost approximately one point each, but elsewhere losses were limited to fractions. The oil gave way slower than most and they too closed irregularly lower.

Steels were higher on initial dealings, then came down. General Steel Works alone showed a small loss.

Total sales amounted to 12,700 shares.

Stock Market Sags Lower During Lifeless Session; Bonds Make New High Mark

NEW YORK, Sept. 18.—The stock market hobbled wearily today, losing a couple of points on the average in a session that was nearly as lifeless as yesterday's, when prices made narrow recoveries. Sales once more dropped below 1,500,000 shares, aggregating only 1,377,000.

A selling flurry in the late trading was characteristic of the day's dealings, which were largely a succession of small bear raids. Assuming that the apathetic rally on Wednesday meant some stock was waiting to be sold on further indications of weakness, the shorts shot at the big industrial and utility shares during the forenoon and clipped a point or two from quotations. Whenever pressure relaxed, nevertheless, the market was inclined to bob back and bearish professionals had to work a little harder in the afternoon. Their strongest drive was toward the close after a feeble rally had reduced or eliminated the small early losses.

Financial circles got a surprise after the close of the market when it was learned that brokers' loans had increased $750,000,000.

The steady growth of investments found further reflection in the advance of United States Steel preferred and National Biscuit preferred to new highs.

Merchandising and utility stocks were among the softest of the day. Yesterday's small gains in the latter group brought prompt profit taking, with resultant net declines of the couple of points in American Telephone, Consolidated Gas, American & Foreign Power, American Waterworks and North American. Safeway Stores and R. H. Macy lost 3 and Montgomery Ward, Sears, Roebuck and Kroger Grocery about one point each.

American Can was a heavy industrial, dropping 3 points on the day. United States Steel and Westinghouse sagged 2 points each. General Motors 3-4, and Radio American Tobacco "D," International Nickel and Electric, a point or more. Auburn Auto and Washington Pump closed 5 points lower.

The Spotlight BY GRANTLAND RICE

(Copyright, 1930, by the North American Newspaper Alliance.)

DOWN THE STRETCH

The remaining National League schedule, so far as the leaders happen to be concerned, makes an interesting document. Here it is after Thursday's contests:

Brooklyn—Four games with Pittsburgh, one with New York, one with Philadelphia and two with Boston.

St. Louis—Three with Philadelphia, four with Pittsburgh.

Chicago—Four with Boston, four with Cincinnati.

So far as the strength of the opposition goes, the Cubs have slightly less trouble to face, as far as one can figure out the circumstances on copy paper. Both the Dodgers and Cardinals have four games left with the Pirates, and the Braves or Reds. At least they should be, since they have better pitching to offer and a rougher attack. All three leaders finish at home, so there is no advantage on that side.

In a race as close as this has been for so many weeks, no one can tell just when the breaking point will come for any club. It might be no more than a few days, or it might be a little time in chucking the lead back to someone else. There is a nerve strain in front-running the pursuers.

The Cardinals unquestionably have been playing the best ball in their league for over six weeks. Whether or not they can keep this fast pace all the way down the stretch through the next ten days is another guess. They have one of the best all-around teams in baseball, and it isn't easy to stampede a team of this general strength, which control his punches in a decisive victory, he can then split the argument with Young Stripling as to which of the pair may meet Schmelz. Stripling is now in the lead and Sharkey will need one of his best fights to move up on anything approaching even terms. Campolo is no easy test. His weak spot is a long lay-off with almost no fighting since last winter. His two matches with Risio are about all the action he has known, outside of one affair that meant nothing.

"The skyscraper South American is a fair boxer and a fair puncher. He isn't any world beater, but he is better than the average run of heavyweights. He should be good enough to make Sharkey prove his place."

"Jimmy McLarnin flooded with challenges." Which shows how much punishment the average morose is willing to take for the loser's end.

THE UMPIRES FEEL IT, TOO
Among other things, might track under the continued strain of this pennant race if it doesn't ease up soon will be the umpires handling the games of the contenders.

One close decision now that might be called either way may win or lose a pennant. An umpire will tell you there are no close decisions, but there are—both on base plays and balls and strikes.

SECTIONAL STRENGTH
In the coming championship at Merion section strength will be almost evenly split. The East will have such stars as George Volz, Oulmet, Perkins, Findlay (Harvard), Homans, Moffett, Guilford.

The Middle West will have Johnson, Goodman, Von Elm, Lehman, George Dawson and Knepper. The Far West will present Moe, Willing, Lawson Little, Fay Coleman, Brown, McHugh, Bon Stein and Seaver. The Southern forces will be led again by Bobby Jones.

The strength of the Pacific Coast will be especially notable. In this connection the Far West can claim half of Von Elm, who divides much of his time between Detroit and Los Angeles. Don Moe will be one of the best men in the field. Doc Willing is always dangerous. Lawson Little, the young golfer who beat Goodman last fall and carried Oulmet to the final green, will bear a lot of watching. He has more experience now and can't be overlooked. Charley Seaver is another long hitter and low scorer from the other coast.

As an average proposition the Far West may take the lead in the way of sectional strength. There are eight or nine entries from this section who can play a lot of golf, players who have been improving steadily.

As there will be only thirty-two to qualify, the scramble here will be one of the hardest ever known in a championship. There are more good golfers now who are able to break 75 than the game has ever known. Out of the field there must be fifty or sixty headed for Merion who ordinarily can count upon a 74 or 75 with possibilities of lower figures. But the strain of qualifying usually tells another story.

SHARKEY AND CAMPOLO
Jack Sharkey is now getting ready for his last chance to remain in the heavyweight limelight.

If he can beat Campolo in a sensational manner or prove he can world of damage, in a short march. Then he still has Cochrane and Simmons, two of the most dangerous competitors that baseball has known in many a year. And he must have two or three others who can throw and catch a ball to be up where he is again.

The Athletics may not be the team they were a year ago, but they are still something to beat in a pennant race or a world series. Cochrane, Seaver and Simmons make a pretty fair ball club without much help.

THE BIG CHANCE
When the first amateur golf championship was held about thirty-six years ago, most of the entries were from New York and Chicago.

In the gathering that meets at Merion on Monday there will be candidates from almost every state.

The Far West is sending along the strongest delegations in years with Moe, Willing, Seaver, McHugh, Little, Stein and others.

They are on from Texas and Oklahoma, from Nebraska and Georgia, and Alabama, from New England, Minnesota, Iowa and Florida. The West, from the Mississippi on to the Pacific, expects to place more men in the qualifying thirty-two than the East. This section of the West claims Von Elm and Goodman, two of the best. Both are almost sure to qualify. Others are among those mentioned—Moe, Willing, Seaver, Finlay, McHugh, Stein, etc. They are coming a long, long way, but they expect to place at least eight men and possibly more in the championship division.

The East must depend in the main on Volz, Sweetser, Homans, Oulmet, Moffett, Guilford and a few others. Tolley and Perkins, living in the East, represent the main British challenge. All in all it will be something of a show to look at, especially on Wednesday when the surviving flock, tear in at two eighteen-hole rounds.

NEW YORK, Sept. 18.—Jack (Kid) Berg, English lightweight sensation, outpointed Joe Glick, Williamsburg, pants presser, in a ten-round bout at Queensboro Stadium tonight. Berg weighed 136, Glick 139.

Berg swarmed all over the Williamsburg veteran to win seven of the rounds in the opinion of ringside critics.

Glick held the Englishman on fairly even terms for the first half of the bout, but in the last five rounds Berg cut loose with a bewildering assortment of punches for which Glick could find no adequate defence. There were no knockdowns.

VICTORIA GOLFERS
TO BATTLE SEATTLE

Oak Bay Members to Engage in Second Half of Annual Match in Sound City Tomorrow

Headed by R. E. Wilson, their skipper, twenty-eight players representing the Victoria Golf Club, will journey across the Gulf today to Seattle, where they will engage in the second half of their annual match against the Seattle Golf Club tomorrow.

As a result of the first half of the match played at the Oak Bay layout early in the summer, the locals will start the last half holding a thirty-five point lead. In view of the fact of this large lead, the Victoria members are favored to win the series, although the Sound city experts are bound to gain back a large percentage of the points on their home links.

The Victoria team will be as follows: J. R. Mason, R. E. Wilson (captain), H. Heaver, D. Campbell, A. H. Ford, C. W. Pangman, A. T. Goward, Count Suzanne, E. D. Todd, R. Peachey, Stanley Haynes, J. E. Wilson, J. McHugh, W. L. MacIntosh, T. O. McKay, A. Crump, R. H. Swinerton, Captain Meriton, W. F. Campbell, R. G. Christie, E. C. Sighler, W. C. Garsche, J. L. Garsche, J. McLoughlin, Dr. Garsche and Ray Castle.

BEATING THE ATHLETICS
There seems to be a set feeling in National League circles that the older circuit champions this season can take the Athletics with some of the weak spots that have developed in Mack's team since last year.

Maybe. And then maybe not. As a starter, Connie Mack is one of the canniest of all the leaders in any branch of series or campaign. Then he has Grove and Eardown, two great pitchers, who can do a

TO BATTLE SEATTLE

Oak Bay Members to Engage in Second Half of Annual Match in Sound City Tomorrow

Headed by R. E. Wilson, their skipper, twenty-eight players representing the Victoria Golf Club, will journey across the Gulf today to Seattle, where they will engage in the second half of their annual match against the Seattle Golf Club tomorrow.

As a result of the first half of the match played at the Oak Bay layout early in the summer, the locals will start the last half holding a thirty-five point lead. In view of the fact of this large lead, the Victoria members are favored to win the series, although the Sound city experts are bound to gain back a large percentage of the points on their home links.

The Victoria team will be as follows: J. R. Mason, R. E. Wilson (captain), H. Heaver, D. Campbell, A. H. Ford, C. W. Pangman, A. T. Goward, Count Suzanne, E. D. Todd, R. Peachey, Stanley Haynes, J. E. Wilson, J. McHugh, W. L. MacIntosh, T. O. McKay, A. Crump, R. H. Swinerton, Captain Meriton, W. F. Campbell, R. G. Christie, E. C. Sighler, W. C. Garsche, J. L. Garsche, J. McLoughlin, Dr. Garsche and Ray Castle.

BEATING THE ATHLETICS
There seems to be a set feeling in National League circles that the older circuit champions this season can take the Athletics with some of the weak spots that have developed in Mack's team since last year.

Maybe. And then maybe not. As a starter, Connie Mack is one of the canniest of all the leaders in any branch of series or campaign. Then he has Grove and Eardown, two great pitchers, who can do a world of damage, in a short march. Then he still has Cochrane and Simmons, two of the most dangerous competitors that baseball has known in many a year. And he must have two or three others who can throw and catch a ball to be up where he is again.

The Athletics may not be the team they were a year ago, but they are still something to beat in a pennant race or a world series. Cochrane, Seaver and Simmons make a pretty fair ball club without much help.

THE BIG CHANCE
When the first amateur golf championship was held about thirty-six years ago, most of the entries were from New York and Chicago.

DEATH OF JAMES DICK WAS ACCIDENTAL SAYS VERDICT AT INQUEST

CUMBERLAND, Sept. 18. — The adjourned inquest to inquire into the death of James Dick, who was fatally shot on the first day of the hunting season, was held today at the court house, Cumberland. Sergeant Mansell, of the Provincial Police, conducted the case for the Crown and Theed Pearce, barrister of Courtenay, was in attendance in the interests of Daniel Dowling, charged with manslaughter.

Dr. E. R. Hicks, of Cumberland, testified that he was called to the hospital shortly after 1 p.m. on Saturday, September 13, to see James Dick, who had just been brought in. The injured man gradually grew worse and died about 6.30 the same evening. In witness's opinion death was caused by a gunshot wound and internal hemorrhage. At the post-mortem which he conducted, he found the top of the deceased's kidney had been punctured.

James Williamson, who was with Dick at the time of the fatality, gave evidence and his story was corroborated by Carl Amquist, who was hunting along with Dowling.

Constable Donahue, of the Provincial Police, also gave evidence and a statement made by Dowling to Sergeant Mansell was also read.

After several questions by jurymen, they retired to bring in a verdict that in their opinion James Dick met his death as the result of a gunshot wound inflicted by Daniel Dowling, but in their opinion the act was purely accidental.

The jury was composed of J. Sutherland, foreman; W. McLeish, Dr. W. Hudson, T. R. S. Graham, D. Lockhart and W. Merrifield.
